YOUR WEALTH IMAGE

Chapter 13

"Our self-image and our habits tend to go together. Change one and you will automatically change the other."

Dr. Maxwell Maltz

I told you I like to go to the core, to get the fastest and most accurate results. The core of who you are is your self image. Your self image is the blueprint from which your systems operate, It is what your mind, your ego, and the Universe use as a guide to know what you want. Remember these systems are here 24/7 working to bring you what you want.

"Why don't I have the money I want then?" You ask. I'll bet a large portion of you reading this book right now, have read tons of books, taken classes and tried meditating, visualizing, making vision boards and more, with some or no results.

It's not that these techniques aren't useful. It is that you can only make 'skin deep' changes when you do not first change your self image. It is a bit like covering up an ugly old chair with a blanket. It may look better, but it is still an ugly old chair underneath. It will never change by covering it with hopes, wishes and weak affirmations.

Will power works only when applied to keeping focused on your vision and staying committed to your goal. It is not to be used to change habits, beliefs or create true transformation. Anyone who has ever been on a diet knows this. What always happens in the end? You cannot sustain the diet because it is not transforming you from within. It is attempting to force a change on you from outside.

Your shift must occur within you first, in order to transform your outer world experience. Change the internal landscape, energy and image, and the outside naturally shifts to match. It can literally dissolve and then take the shape of your new self image in an instant, if you let it!

“I now shift my energy to fun and empowering feelings. I choose my life on purpose. I transform through awareness and choice.”

Have you ever had the experience of deciding to let something go in your mind and you feel different immediately? Or to intentionally change how you feel about something or someone? What happens? Instantly you experience things in a new way. Learning to shift your energy and thus your emotions is fun and empowering. When you are able to do this on demand, you are choosing your life on purpose. This is what transforming from within is all about. It did not take effort, struggle, a long time and a lot of stress and deprivation. It did not take will power. It only took awareness and choice.

So to create lasting change and permanent wealth you first start with your WEALTH IMAGE.

What is your wealth image? In the chapter "Already Rich", we did a magnetic process where you went to the secret room within you and looked for the wealthy you. This is a great start on seeing your current self and wealth image, and beginning to change it to what you prefer. It is your internal, self image in terms of wealth, money, income, and the worthiness you feel towards it. Your self image is how you see, think of and feel about yourself. It is not a reflection of your true self. Your true self is divine, abundant wealthy, healthy, living, happy and limitless in all ways, always.

"I am connected to my true wealth image and the Universe supports me in every moment"

Your self image was formed when you were growing up, We are in theta brain state till we are about 7. This means we are wide open, absorb easily, and take on almost anything that is presented from an authority or with emotions. So you in fact now believe things about yourself that are untrue. You believe things about yourself that a 1, 2, 5, 7, year old decided. No wonder you don't feel good and aligned with yourself! You would not let a 2 or 5 year old decide for you now. You know that a child has only certain conscious understanding. You know that things you thought were great and real as a child are not your reality anymore.

So it is time to revamp your self image and your wealth image. It is time to transform from within. This is fun!

Magnetic Process:

Creating Your New Wealth Image

"Striving for real success - for your success - through creative accomplishment, brings a deep inner satisfaction. Striving for a phony success to please others brings a phony satisfaction."

Dr. Maxwell Maltz

In order to attract, create, receive and enjoy wealth, you must see yourself as wealthy. You must believe you are wealthy. You must feel what it is like to be wealthy in just the way you desire. Not what others think. It must come from within you as a sincere desire. Remember, to manifest in physical reality, we must live in it mentally first.

Desire is the Divine source energy moving through you... communicating to you! Desire is the Universe telling you, 'this is what you want, it will thrill you, expand you, give you what you most need". It means it is the right thing for you at the time. It means you have the means, strength, vision and courage to make it happen, It means the Universe is on your side.

What you Believe is True for You and Nothing Else

Your self image and wealth image are the controlling blueprint you have created consciously or unconsciously. It must be changed by conscious intent in order for you to alter your life experience and to attract and keep wealth. Your energy field is always moving and interacting with everyone and everything around you. It is a projection of your self image and your thoughts and feelings about yourself and what you believe. Self esteem or what I call "wealth esteem" is a potent part of your wealth vibe... the vibration you put out that causes law of attraction to respond and bring you what you currently have. And this is the core. This is where I like to go.

"I allow the unsupportive patterns to dissolve and then take the shape of my new Wealth self image in an instant. I let it go, now"

In order to create your reality the way you truly want it you must discover a few things. Get your wealth journal or start one about your new wealth image and write this down and answer it, clearly and in short phrases.

1. What you want
2. Why you want it
3. When you want it
4. How much you want
5. What it will feel like to have/BE/do it

There are many tools that help with manifesting. Being conscious, aware and open.

To create with mastery is to:

- own your power
- to accept your worthiness

- ask with clarity

“ I claim my power. I step into my power. I know my power is Divine, safe and for my highest good.”

Are you making positive changes in your life and feeling uncomfortable around people you once were uplifted by? Your wealth image must be one you choose from within. It cannot be what you think others want from you. Once you start to transform from within, realize others around you may not be.

Are you on a path of personal growth and really making changes? Are you feeling more happy, empowered, positive and in charge of your life? Great! That is my passion, to help anyone who seeks a better life and more joy, love, wealth and health to find it within themselves and create the life they desire! This is what we all seek, even if some people are so buried in their fear and pain they can't see a way out. My total wealth transformation class has seen amazing inner shifts in the way they feel, how they see the world and what they are choosing. The results are fantastic. Now, the changes are becoming more real and they are beginning to see others in their environment react to their positive changes.

Whenever we make changes that empower us, in how we feel and what we create, those who know us as we have been will react. If you are fortunate enough to have truly supportive, open minded and growth seeking people in your life, you will be supported. However, most of us soon experience many people around us reacting negatively. This is their issue, not ours, and yet we have to address it within us. You will find that you will shift who you are hanging out with and what you want. You will see certain relationships fade and people move away from you and others appear. It is natural. In essence you have raised your vibration as well as your awareness.

Allow the people in your life to move out and in as you change your Wealth Image

I have been through this many times, because I am on a constant, intense path of inner growth and change. I strongly desire to be personally empowered, joyful, wealthy and happy all the time. The more I did this, the more I found I just could not be around certain people and in certain groups. At first it can be hard. I remember about 10 years ago I was mostly a stay at home mom and had these wonderful women friends and women's spiritual groups I attended. They were my lifeline to sanity and they were very nurturing. It really felt so wonderful to be with them. We would meet several times a month, go on retreats and so on. I loved being with them and doing all the meaningful activities which included spiritual and personal growth work, which I love.

"I now allow my inner brilliance to shine. I unleash my radiance.
I embrace my luster.
I am radiant, joyful and prosperous.

I love expressing myself fully.
This or something better.
Thank you Thank you Thank you"

I was tired from being with twin babies all the time and still had some deep sadness I had not fully released from my daughter dying several years before. In this space with these women, I was taken care of and it felt so good, because I was depleted of energy taking care of others all the time. At that time, they were a perfect match for me, and I gained so much by being with them. They enjoyed caring for women who were needy and I had needs. It worked well and uplifted me for years.

" I am safe and loved. The Universe is on my side.
I have the strength, smarts and courage to handle anything that comes my way.
I am supported and follow my inner guidance
without hesitation"

Then I began to find more inner joy and met one woman in particular. We became friends and she was fun, strong, opinionated and did her own thing. She came to the groups now and then, but really had her own way of doing things. I began to feel more joyful, and strong and clear. I began to do more healing work again and as my kids approached school age, I felt ready to grow a business again. I spent more time with her and less with the group. She made me feel strong and empowered. The group did not like my new found energy, happiness and strength. They separated us in groups so we did not act too happy and outgoing. They commented that when I spent time with her I was "too energetic" and yes, believe it or not "too happy"! I began to feel less supported by the group and even found myself 'seeing' things about them I didn't notice before. They were very focused on weakness and wounds. They liked new people who joined the group and were weak and needy, like I had been years before. They had severe poverty consciousness. These things no longer resonated with me.

Their discomfort with the stronger, more authentic 'me' emerging from my tired and sad state continued as I began a new business in real estate investing. Real estate investing grabbed my attention and passion like crazy. I could not get it out of my mind, and even though it was so far from any other business I had created, I was meant to do it. I read and learned non stop for the next 5 years, becoming very successful and building a large business.

Initially I was so excited about my new passion I would mention it to the women's group. I received some support, but mostly vague and 'oh that's nice' but I noticed no one wanted to really hear about it. Then as my passion grew and I began to really immerse myself in growing that business, I became very focused, motivated and strong, the women became more distant and critical.

"I see myself as wealthy. I believe I AM wealthy."

I began to feel unwelcome in the groups and finally had one woman actually email me a long critical email claiming my priorities had changed, I was no longer committed to the group and it's intent and that she thought I should not come to an upcoming retreat. Even though I was aware of the shifts in my energy and attitudes, and that we were no longer on the same page, it was a real blow to me and I was hurt and upset. The other women apologized for her email and so did she. However, it was the point where I realized, I was trying to fit a square peg, me, into a round hole. We no longer met each others needs. We no longer were passionate about the same things. We were not vibrating in similar frequencies. Bottom line, it no longer worked for any of us.

All along, though, leading up to that, I was feeling inside like I was growing and changing in such a wonderful way. I knew within me I was on the right path for me. There was no doubt. I wanted so much for these women who meant so much to me to honor and respect my new passion. To share my enthusiasm and to support my goals and achievements. I wanted them to become stronger too and more wealth minded, more personally empowered. It was my path, though, not theirs. I was going to seminars that included personal growth and business as well as investing and I was experiencing massive personal growth at levels I had never experienced. When we do this, we cannot expect others to keep up, it has to come from within them. We can never change others, only ourselves.

“My desire for abundance is the Divine source energy moving through me.”

I had to stay true to my path and continue, even if it meant the end of my relationship with this group who had meant so much to me. I wanted to stay and yet had to let go and honor my new path. I had to let them be who they were as well. I had spent the previous 10 years or so on a path of intent spiritual growth and learning. Yet, pushing myself in this new area, facing fears of rejection and doing large business deals, and constantly pushing myself outside my comfort zone, was creating spiritual and inner growth on unprecedented levels. It just looked different to these women. Our own personal path and joy has to be our priority. We have to be able to say that we will not let anything stand in our way and we are willing to do what we are drawn to do. trust and let go. As you create a wealthy image, with a wealthy consciousness, you will see who has this and who does not.

“I accept the gift from the Universe to BE personally empowered, joyful, wealthy and happy all the time! I choose this for all others as well. I allow myself to express myself freely and I allow all others the same. I move forward with ease and grace.”

Several things happen when you make a decision to change your life for the better. When you begin to take your power and choose what you want, you are going to upset some people. People who know you the way you were, are comfortable knowing what to expect from you and want you to stay that way. It is safe, it is comfortable for them. When you change, the people around you often feel like it is a reflection of their shortcomings. They do not want to change or are not interested in what you are doing. They are afraid you will leave or be better than them. Their insecurities pop up. They often prefer you weak and unhappy, because they can commiserate and relate with you. They are stuck in their own limiting patterns and have not yet discovered their desire to break out of it. When you begin to change, be happy and have success, it makes many people very uncomfortable. Sometimes downright angry and critical. Even if your attitude is not to say anything about it to them, they can see and feel your shifts. Remember, most people fear change.

“I stay true to my vision, myself and my wealth. I let go of the past and embrace the now I am creating.”

You have to decide; are you going to be committed to your change or are you going to hold yourself back, limit yourself, and play small to make others feel safe?

Choose people who support your new image

In order to create the life you really want, you have to choose courage, inner commitment and put yourself first. It sounds selfish to our conditioned minds, that have had others telling us since birth that we have to act this way or that in order to fit in and make them feel safe. However, we are not here to live for others, we are here to live a life of exceptional joy and creativity that only each of us has within us. We are here to live wealthy, healthy exciting lives that reflect the uniqueness of who we are and expand our boundaries, and therefore the Universe. It takes a brave heart and a loving soul to venture out past the gates of sameness and Be who we are meant to be. We have to realize, expecting others to be happy and supportive of us, is unrealistic, this is our journey, they have theirs.

Allow yourself and others to BE what you want to Be

Our lives and interests change, and with it the people who best add to our lives. We have times when certain people, groups and careers really excite, push and fulfill us. Then we grow and shift and eventually, we move to something new and those same people, groups and career paths no longer hold the same interest, support and joy. It is OK. It is the way it is meant to be. Let go and move into your next best life and let others do the same. Be careful you do not limit others either. True love, for ourselves and for others begins with allowing. Allow them to be who they are and allow yourself to be who you want to be.

Listen to your inner self

As you create a new, wealthy self image, it is imperative you listen to your inner self. You must choose what is best for you from within, not based on seeking approval from others. Don't wait for outside validation. When you notice someone is negative and it pulls you down, get away and find those who are in your new vibe. We do not have to feel guilty because we are choosing joy, empowerment and happiness. We do not have to justify what we are attracted to and what we want to do and experience. What we do have to do, if we want to live an inner powered life of joy, love and happiness, is be true to ourselves and let others do the same.

Let go of the past

I know, there are people and memories we would love to hold on to. There are passions and agreements that we feel an obligation to stay in. Yet when it begins to limit us, make us unhappy, uneasy and feels as though it is suffocating us... it is time to let go. No agreement is forever, and we have to allow ourselves to move on and to release others, without blame to do the same. What is best for you is not what is best for others and realizing that gives you more clarity in moving forward.

“I absolutely deserve to be wealthy, happy and healthy.”

Create your wealth image with very little input from the past. Take only the most positive and empowering memories and extract the feelings and use them. Otherwise, create from the new you. Know that you will need to recognize agreements you made with yourself and others. Then you will need to see if they support and empower your new image. If not, decide to break those agreements in the most generous and loving way possible. It is never about making anyone wrong, not even yourself. It is simply recognizing this is a new you, and part of that new you is one that chooses beliefs, agreements and people that are supportive, positive, empowering. Let the rest go with gratitude.

Choose new agreements with yourself

Many people stay stuck in their old patterns and lives and keep repeating the same negative and unfulfilling experiences, because they are not willing to let of the old ways and the people who no longer have the same interests. It does not make them wrong, it simply means you have changed and it is time for you to move on and seek new people, places and experiences.

“I Think big, I think luxury, I think joy, I deserve. I think outside my box, I open to something new and abundance on all levels!”

Making the transition from where you are to where you want to be involves risk, because you will change who you are with and what you do. You may receive criticism from others and even anger at times from those who want you to stay the same and make them feel ok about who they are. This is not our job. Our job is self care first. No matter what relationship you are in, it does not serve them, us or the greater good for us to deny who we are becoming.

Get support

Most of us need ongoing support as we transform. Having support and being with like minded, uplifting people and information is vital. My coaching, classes and radio show are all designed to keep you supported through all your changes. They will give you powerful tools and techniques to be able to keep strong and positive and forge your path to joy, wealth and love. Having a coach and arming yourself with support is your best way to truly breakout of the same old thing and create an ultimate life. My friends could not see that, they had their own limits in their vision. They felt in sync with me when I was tired and sad. My new found strength and passion made them uncomfortable. Like many people, they had ideas that their way was the best and only way. They thought if you focused on wealth, you were greedy, and were no longer spiritual and had fallen off the path of enlightenment.

Realize that letting go of people opens space for new ones, who will resonate with the new you!

I knew this shift was happening and all along, I was thinking inside "I love these people and I don't want to give them up". I held on as long as I could, even though the energy had shifted for me too and I was no longer feeling welcome, nurtured or stimulated to grow. Their energy had shift for me too and it all felt very boring, weak and negative. Once the time came I received the email from one lady, I knew inside me I had to leave it behind and move on, My path had diverged and we were no longer vibrating at all the same. I was a bit like a kid inside, throwing a temper tantrum, saying to myself "I don't want to do it". I really did not want to let go of that old security and support, the love and the nurturing.

"I Dare to dream. I know I AM special. I AM wonderful. I AM unique, valued, beautiful and talented! I now align with the Best in everything. I incorporate the BEST of me in all I do."

This is key. When you realize you have changed and others have not, be willing to let go. Not only of others, but of your past or current self that is not aligned with the new image.

Do not continue to hang around people who bring you down, do not feel good, and speak and think in negative or poor ways. You want to make your life exceptional. Find new people who vibrate with the new you and uplift you. Always reach for those who are 'ahead' of you on the curve. Push yourself and don't let anyone hold you back... especially yourself! Since that group was no longer giving me support or happiness, that was the major clue that it was time to move on and let go.

Choose practical actions that imprint the new wealth image feelings

Create your vision of the wealthy, happy, healthy you. Enhance it by going out and doing things that will give you the feeling of being rich. This is what I call Practicing wealth in my "Wealth Downloads" course. Drive cars, go to restaurants, try on clothes, anything that is what you want to be true for you. This will give you tangible feelings to add to your image and imprint it deeper within you. "Act as if".

Be true to yourself, do not create a new wealth image that is to impress or satisfy anyone else. Find your true self, your passion, your inner light. Once you create a wealthy you, you give others permission to do the same. You model it for them. You can give of yourself, your experience, time, and money and help others. Best of all, your energy goes into the whole and expands the Universe.

A few key things to think about when you create your new wealth image:

- You cannot be a victim and be rich
- You cannot identify with your lack, your hardship, and be wealthy
- You have to give up all excuses and take full responsibility for yourself, and your life and everything in it. Period.
- You absolutely deserve to be wealthy, happy and healthy. Own it.
- Think big, think luxury, think joy, think outside your box!
- Dare to dream, know you are special, wonderful, unique, valued, beautiful and talented! Incorporate the BEST of you and everything, and accept nothing less!

I want you to be aware, though, that the image you have of yourself is vital to making any changes in your life. I am designing an entire course on creating your wealth image, your 'Avatar' so to speak. Take the process from the 'Already Rich' chapter and expand on it. Use the key elements here and begin to design the new you from within, imprint it on your mind, and your senses. Watch for it to become! You will begin to tune in to your true wealthy abundant image. Claim it! Enjoy it! Share it!

"I accept nothing less than the Best!"

CHOOSE who you want to BE now. This is all that you need to think about from now on. Let go of the past and let's move forward, always.
